

VISHWAKARMA JAYANTI || विश्वकर्मा जयंती: इस पर्व के महत्व और समारोहों की क्या है कहानी? ||

Vishwakarma is a Hindu deity revered as the creator of the universe and the divine architect. He is considered the god of craftsmanship, engineering, construction, and all forms of artistry. According to religious beliefs, Vishwakarma is credited with creating the palaces of the gods, divine weapons, and flying chariots. He is typically depicted with four arms holding a book, a water pot, a noose, and tools, symbolizing his mastery in creation and craftsmanship.

Vishwakarma Jayanti is a significant festival celebrated particularly by artisans, craftsmen, engineers, and architects in India. It commemorates the birthday of Vishwakarma, who is worshiped as the deity of creation and craftsmanship.

Date:

The festival is generally observed on the Shukla Paksha (waxing phase) of the Bhadrapada month in the Indian calendar, which usually falls in September. In 2024, it will be celebrated on September 16.

Significance:

- Religious Importance: Vishwakarma is revered as the god of construction, craftsmanship, and architecture. He is believed to have designed various religious and mythological structures and tools under the guidance of deities like Shiva, Vishnu, and Brahma. On this day, devotees clean and worship their workplaces and tools, seeking his blessings.

Activities:

- Worship and Offerings: People perform rituals at their workplaces, factories, and with their tools. They set up idols or pictures of Vishwakarma and offer flowers, lamps, and food to him.
- Greetings and Blessings: Devotees seek blessings for their skills and crafts and celebrate with colleagues and family.
- Festive Foods: Special dishes and sweets are prepared to enhance the festive atmosphere.

Cultural Impact:

- Art and Craft: Vishwakarma Jayanti is an important occasion for those involved in art, craft, and construction. It's a day to appreciate their work and pray for success and safety.
- Labor Community: The festival is particularly significant for laborers and workers engaged in construction and craftsmanship, offering them encouragement and recognition for their efforts.

Legends:

According to mythology, Vishwakarma was appointed by Brahma, Vishnu, and Shiva to construct various palaces, buildings, and other structures. His contributions to divine architecture and tools are highly esteemed.

Vishwakarma Jayanti highlights the importance of creation and craftsmanship in Indian culture and serves as a significant day for those working in these fields.
